

United Nations Association of Greater Boston
Young Professionals for International Cooperation
44-46 Temple Place
Boston, MA 02111

Young Professionals for International Cooperation to Host Tech Conference

(Boston, MA) – The Young Professionals for International Cooperation (YPIC) Boston chapter is sponsoring the New England YPIC Regional Conference, “Innovative Citizenship: Utilizing Technology for Social Change” on October 18, 2008. YPIC is the young professionals group of the United Nations Association of Greater Boston (UNA-GB).

Guest speakers will include

- Daniel Sullivan, Chair, YPIC
- Gradon Tripp and Rebecca Corliss, Social Media for Social Change
- Dr. Clark Abt, Historian and Professor Emeritus, Cambridge College
- Harris Sussman, Co-Founder, M.N. Adamov Memorial Fund
- Kenolisa Obuewele, Founder, The Obala Foundation

YPIC’s event will feature topics including

- The Use of Social Media
- Technology in Developing Countries
- Ideas for Civic Involvement

“YPIC offers an extraordinary opportunity to engage in the discourse of international affairs and to pursue action in the pursuit of a more perfect world. This conference will energize, educate, and motivate continued service to others,” said Daniel Sullivan, YPIC Chair.

For conference information, including event location and ticketing, call UNA-GB at (617) 482-4587 or visit http://www.unagb.org/global_issues/ypic_events.cfm.

###

About Young Professionals for International Cooperation

YPIC is a volunteer-based organization supported by the United Nations Association of Greater Boston which provides forums for discussion of international issues for local professionals ages 21-40. Annual events include a dinner series, panel discussions, forums and speakers.

CONTACT: Lisa Unangst
Program Manager, UNA-GB
(617) 482-4587
lisa.unangst@unagb.org